M. E. Church Notes.

The W. F. M. S., will meet at the home of Mrs. C. J. Hunt on Friday of this week at 2 o'clock p. m. Mrs. Morris will lead. All members are urged to be present. This will be the last meeting this conference year, which ends the last day of September.

We will give a report of the district conference, in our notes, next week, as it had its meeting in Edgerton, Mo., the first three days of this week.

Next Sunday will be Missionary Day in our Sunday school. Let us do the big thing and give a big offering for missions. There will be but one more Mission Sunday this year, and that will be the first Sunday in October. We are hoping to make our report the best ever, this year.

The Annual Conference of the M. E. church, South, meets this week in Francis Street M. E. church, South, St. Joseph. The conference comprises all the territory north of the Missouri river, and has nine presiding elders districts. It will be presided over by Bishop Hendrix, of Kansas City and who but recently returned from the War Zone in Europe. He barely escaped serious embarrassment over there.

The Rev. W. R. Hobson, of Wichita, Kan., came into town last Saturday and remained until Wednesday of this week, in the interest of the Society for the Friendless. He presided at the other services in the Albion, last Sunday night.

The ice cream social at the Culp school house, last Saturday night, was very largely attended, many people from town going out to enjoy the evening with the people out there. After the ice cream was sold, the remaining cases were auctioned off and brought good prices.

Our Sunday school last Sunday was getting back toward normal again, as we reached much above the 50 mark. The superintendent will be home for his work by next Sunday, and others will be getting in from their summer vacations, and we soon hope to be back again where we were a few weeks ago.

Every scholar in the Sunday school will be everlastingly obligated to our good friend, Reed Bailey, for his very efficient services the last four Sundays, during the absence of the superintendent. He not only superintended the school, but he filled the office of chorister, and did both par excellently. Reed will make a strong church worker. He will soon be through his university course at Columbia, and then will be at home to throw his young life and vigor into the church life.

There being no services at the Presbyterian church, Sunday morning, a large gathering of their friends and members came down to our services and worshipped with us. We greatly enjoyed their fellowship. They with our own congregation, made a very respectable audience. Come again, brethren, you are always welcome.

Miss Mary Moore, as usual, delighted the audience Sunday morning with her song. Miss Moore always pleases when she sings. She also sang in the Albion at the union service at night.

The pastor was called to Forties, Mo., Sunday afternoon to preach a funeral, and for that reason he could not fill his appointment at the Culp school. He, however, prevailed upon Brother B. W. Smallwood to go in his place, which he did, and preached to the delight of the people.

The Pastor.

He Loves to Fish.

Recently we met Uncle Milt Herron, of Mound City, on the Villisca train, returning from St. Joseph. Uncle Milt, we believe, is known to every man, woman and child in Holt county, and it is also equally well known that he is an ardent disciple of Isaac Walton, the great English authority on fishing, and also the author of the "Complete Angler," a standard authority on the piscatorial art. Uncle Milt will be 85 years old this month, and to-day is much spryer than many young men of 25 years. He used to often walk to Big Lake and back, the same day, a distance of about eight miles from Mound City, making 16 miles, and would do this now, if there was any fishing. He is certainly a wonderful man, and especially so, for one of his age. He is a cabinet maker by trade, and a good one; he also follows carpentering at times, and can and does even now, at his advanced age, do a No. 1 good job. Try him and see. He is not too old to work yet, he says, and is positive he will never get too old to fish.

A Birthday Surprise.

A very pleasant birthday surprise was "perpetrated" on C. W. Anibal, of Craig, Sunday, August 23, this being the 45th anniversary of the event. The plans for this "treacherous" attack were adroitly drawn in the neighborhood of Fortescue, and Mrs. Anibal was very naturally included in this "confidence game," and to her ability to keep profound secrets was due the complete success of the hazardous venture into this castle.

C. W. Anibal was born near Fortescue. His father, Edmund Anibal, was a native of Fulton county, N. Y., and emigrated to Kansas in 1865, and to Holt county, in 1890, where he taught school for 12 years, and acquired the distinction of being one of the best public school teachers in the state, and was for more than thirty years prominently identified with the business interests of Bigelow and Craig. His mother, a Missuridan by birth, was a descendant of the "First Families of Virginia," and an only sister of John C. Hinkle.

C. W. ANIBAL

Mr. Anibal assumed the marriage vows with Miss Etta Gulliams, of Craig, in 1902, and together they have since fought the battle of life in utmost harmony, and have never resorted, as have so many, to the divorce courts to settle any of their petty differences. If I may be permitted at this time, to unveil a portion of this man's business record, I would state that his ideal in business was that of merchant. He sold goods in Bigelow, Fortescue, Watson, Clarinda, Iowa, and Edgar, Neb., and for the past seven years has been sole proprietor of a splendid stock of general merchandise in Craig. He was mayor of Craig at the early age of 33 years, at which time he enjoyed the honors of being the youngest mayor in the state. This administration was reported to be the most successful in the entire history of the city, and during that time the flouring mill and elevator were erected and the telephone exchange and the electric light system were installed.

Mr. Anibal was the author of the "Occupation Tax Laws," which has increased the revenue of the city some $500. This was an era of prosperity in the city which has never since been equalled. He is at present president of the Board of Education and to his management is due the advanced standing of the Craig schools from an unclassified high school to a "27" class, and during the ensuing year the board will add strong for first class standing. A science department has been added and a graduate in agriculture has been employed as superintendent. Mr. Anibal was educated in the Bigelow and Craig schools, and at Central college, Fayette, Mo., and is an active member of the Methodist church and of the Mason's fraternity.

Forty friends and relatives gathered at the home to celebrate the occasion.

Those present were: J. C. Hinkle, G. W. Hinkle, B. L. Hinkle, John F. Griser and their families, of Fortescue; J. A. Hinkle and family, of Rulo, Neb.; G. W. Klink, of Savannah; L. Markland, of Armstrong; Mr. Martin and family, Rufus Gulliams and Louis Teare, of Craig.

The self-invited matrons brought well-filled baskets of delectable viands, which materially lightened the culinary burdens of the hostess. The day was most delightfully spent in this very genial home, despite the drizzling rains, and in the afternoon the guests and members of the family "autoed" to the Hare timber, some five miles distant, for an hour of recreation and sight-seeing, and as the shades of evening were gathering, the wily besiegers very reluctantly retired to their several abodes, one and all wishing "Mine Host" many more such happy returns.
